AMST #444B - New Orleans: Place, Meaning, and Context
Credits: 4
Course uses literature, essays, film, music, debate, and discussion, to explore the topics of place, history, people, politics, art and literature, and music. Lectures, discussion, assignments, and group projects will touch on issues regarding race, poverty, power, social mobility, gender roles, crime, corruption, energy, and the environment. Special fee. Writing intensive.
Attributes: Humanities(Disc); Inquiry (Discovery); Writing Intensive Course

AMST #444E - Fly Fishing and the American Experience
Credits: 4
The practice of fly fishing may seem like a rather specialized topic for a semester-long course, but it is truly an interdisciplinary pursuit that is based upon a rich literary heritage. The class will begin with readings, while using film, demonstrations, field trips, and service learning, to help define the extent to which fly fishing in America has become intertwined with literature, art, popular culture, biology, environmentalism, and business/technology. On one level, students will learn about fly fishing techniques, stream ecology, and local rivers. And on another level, they will see how the American landscape and ways of thinking have created something quite distinct from its European antecedents. Writing intensive.
Attributes: Humanities(Disc); Inquiry (Discovery); Writing Intensive Course
