Attributes: Writing Intensive Course
Repeat Rule: May be repeated for a maximum of 8 credits.
ENGL 623 - Creative Nonfiction
Credits: 4
Intensive writing course emphasizing the blend of basic elements that constitute creative nonfiction: research, observation, and personal experience. Also readings and discussion of some of the best published creative nonfiction. Prereq: ENGL 501, 526, 527 or permission of the instructor. May be taken more than once for credit, recommended with two different instructors.
Attributes: Writing Intensive Course
Repeat Rule: May be repeated for a maximum of 8 credits.
ENGL 625 - Intermediate Fiction Writing Workshop
Credits: 4
Students continue to explore the aspects of fiction writing. Through short exercises students learn to create visual scenes, integrate exposition with dramatic scene, and construct convincing characters in believable situations. We'll continue to explore the basic elements of what makes a short story, such as point of view, dialogue, dramatization, voice, meaning, language. Students write short stories and significantly revise them. Through discussion of student writing in a workshop format, as well as reading and responding to short stories by published authors, we'll address the questions: What is a short story? How do we create a world in which the reader is fully involved? Where does the story evoke emotion or meaning? Prereq: ENGL 501, 526, 527 or permission of the instructor. ENGL 625 may be taken more than once for credit, recommended with two different instructors.
Attributes: Writing Intensive Course
Repeat Rule: May be repeated for a maximum of 8 credits.
ENGL 625A - Intermediate Fiction Writing Workshop: Screenwriting
Credits: 4
In this course, intermediate creative writers will learn the craft of writing scripts for film and television. Students will continue to explore the elements of effective storytelling by writing and significantly revising loglines, outlines, and complete short screenplays. The course will combine in-depth analysis of classic and contemporary screenplays (including shorts, teleplays, and feature-length films) with lectures, writing exercises, and peer workshops. Topics will include dramatic structure, professional formatting and planning, and how to develop vividly compelling characters, scenes, conflict and dialogue. The aim of the course will not be to simply reinforce existing narrative principles but rather to test the validity of existing conventions. Throughout we will address the questions: What makes a story relevant, moving, thrilling, or meaningful? Why does this story need to be told visually? What makes a great script great? Prereq: ENGL 501, ENGL 526 or ENGL 527 or Permission of the Instructor. Course may be repeated up to a maximum of 8 credits.
Attributes: Writing Intensive Course
Repeat Rule: May be repeated for a maximum of 8 credits.

Explores the tension between reason and emotion characteristic of the Enlightenment. Works by Jane Austen, Olaudah Equiano, Mary Wollstonecraft, William Blake, Adam Smith, Edmund Burke, Thomas Paine, and others. Prereq: ENGL 401.
Attributes: Writing Intensive Course

ENGL #771 - Victorian Love Poetry
Credits: 4
In this course we discuss beauty, spirituality, objectification, through the emotional power dynamics of love poetry. Looking at 400 years of sonnets, but focusing on 19th century England, we analyze how the ideas about love and relationships this poetic tradition establishes appear in contemporary music, film, art, and social media. Prereq: ENGL 401.
Attributes: Writing Intensive Course

ENGL 773 - Literary Modernisms: Return, Revolt, Recycle
Credits: 4
This course focuses on modernist writers such as T.S. Eliot, who sought to revitalize modern culture by looking backward to the past; Virginia Woolf, who experimented with the form of the novel; and performance artist Kate Wilson, who recycles texts of high modernism. We explore modernist literature in its geopolitical contexts with special attention to imperial expansion and contraction, the rise of fascism, world wars, and struggles for suffrage, and national belonging. Prereq: ENGL 401.

ENGL 774 - Modern & Contemporary British Literature: New Departures
Credits: 4
This course celebrates the growing diversity of British literature over the past half century. These years witnessed the final breakup of the British empire, a civil war in Northern Ireland, the rise of Scottish nationalism, and an influx of immigrants from former colonies worldwide. Beginning with the "little Englander" attitudes of the postwar era, we will explore the emergence of postmodern and postcolonial Britain in fiction, graphic narrative, poetry, drama, film and performance. Prereq: ENGL 401.

ENGL 775 - Modern Irish Literature: A Changing Landscape
Credits: 4
In this course we will explore Irish literature and culture from the Celtic Renaissance in the early twentieth century to the Celtic Tiger of the early twenty-first. Readings will trace Ireland's transformation from and inward-looking agricultural nation to one of the most globalized countries in the world. Recurring themes will include the status of the Church, changing gender roles, sectarian conflict, and Ireland's relation to the world. Prereq: ENGL 401.

ENGL 777 - The English Novel in the World
Credits: 4
Novels written in English from Asia and Africa during the mid-twentieth century to the present day. We will discuss shifts from realism to magical realism and back; domestic, historical and speculative fiction; narratives of the rise of new nations and nationalism; experiences of exile and migration; the 'global' city; transnational cultural exchanges and networks that dismantle assumed civilizational boundaries. Newer novels offer opportunities to understand how literary narratives grasp ecological destruction, animal extinction, and human responsibility.

ENGL 783 - English Novel of the Eighteenth Century
Credits: 4
The eighteenth-century was the period in which the English made the novel, a hitherto European genre, into their own. Finance, slavery, colonialism, war, and the development of the printing press created the media environment in which this genre could thrive, and women authors quickly came to dominate it. Themes include money and marriage, abolition of slavery, and human sympathy. Prereq: ENGL 401.
Attributes: Writing Intensive Course

ENGL 784 - English Novel of the Nineteenth Century
Credits: 4
The highly popular novels of nineteenth-century Britain produced such memorable characters as Sherlock Holmes, Count Dracula, Alice in Wonderland, Frankenstein's monster, and Dr. Jekyll. The novel's literary engagements with science, love, and the city are entangled with cultural discourses on animals, monstrosity, supernaturalism, degeneration, empire, race, and crime. In this course, students will sample a set of novels that exemplify the distinct generic and thematic innovations of the period. Prereq: ENGL 401.
Attributes: Writing Intensive Course

ENGL #785 - Feminist Literary Traditions
Credits: 4
In this course, we explore writing in English by women from across centuries, continents, and traditions, as well as traditions of feminist literary scholarship. Primary areas of focus will be individuals' concepts of self and community, women's involvement in the intellectual and political issues of their times and places, and the role of literature in the processes of social transformation and reform.
