JUStICE STUDIES (JUST)

Course numbers with the # symbol included (e.g. #400) have not been taught in the last 3 years.

JUSt 401 - Introduction to Justice Studies
Credits: 4
Overview of justice studies as the study of law and law-like systems. Includes literature from both the law and society, and criminology. Topics will include morality versus legality, the American legal civil and criminal system, torts, and adult versus juvenile justice.

JUSt 405 - Technology, Crime, and Society: A Forensic Exploration of High-Tech and Digital Crime
Credits: 4
This course addresses the ways in which technology, crime, and law converge in the wider society in the twenty-first century. While emerging technologies bring great benefits, they also bring unintended and unforeseen consequences. This course uses a social science orientation to explore a new and evolving field of forensic technology.
Attributes: Environment, Technology, Society (Disc)

JUSt 410 - Sexual Harassment and Rape Prevention (SHARPP) Peer Advocacy
Credits: 2
Provide education and awareness around issues of sexual and intimate partner violence, sexual harassment, and stalking. This course teaches students the skills needed to support survivors and their allies, by providing resources and advocacy, including university systems, medical, legal advocacy, and Title IX issues. This course allows for privileged communication by NH law, and requires a 1 year commitment to SHARPP Peer Advocacy. All majors accepted. Permission required.

JUSt 415 - SHARPP Advocacy II
Credits: 2
This course is a continuation of JUSt 410. Advocates will demonstrate understanding of skills learned in JUSt 410 by practical use of the skills on the Crisis Line. Prereq: JUSt 410.

JUSt 501 - Research Methods
Credits: 4
Overview of the various methodologies used in justice studies research: quantitative, qualitative, and legal. Topics include issues of design such as ethics, reliability, and validity measurement. Students will design and write up research proposals using one of the methods reviewed in the course. Prereq: PSYC 402 or SOC 502 or equivalent.
Attributes: Inquiry (Discovery)

JUSt 520 - Girls Gone Bad: Delinquent Girls in Cultural Context
Credits: 4
This course explores the important and under-studied intersection between gender/girls and delinquency. Who is the typical female delinquent? What causes her to get into trouble? What happens to her if she is arrested? Topics include the extent and nature of adolescent girl's delinquency and theoretical explanations for delinquency. Focus on social contexts (family, peers, school), developmental and social psychological factors and adolescent girls' experiences with the juvenile system.

JUSt #530 - Inside the Courtroom: Torn from the Headlines
Credits: 4
JUSt #530 provides students an overview of criminal law procedure. The course is expressly aimed to serve students in the humanities and social sciences who may work in law-related fields, pursue advanced coursework in academic disciplines that focus on law-related phenomena or go to law school. The course uses a distance education model, which requires students to invest significant amounts of time and effort outside of "class" activities to master the salient concepts presented in the course. The course provides students with a thorough introduction to the major legal categories of crime. The course also provides students with an understanding of the importance and role of the law of criminal procedure through an exploration of current issues and controversies. From time to time the course touches upon comparative views of other legal traditions. Class discussions, readings, and assignments frequently use current New Hampshire law and criminal cases as points of reference.
Attributes: Humanities (Disc)

JUSt 591 - Forensic Psychology
Credits: 4
Forensic psychology is one of the fastest growing sub-fields in psychology and in fact one of the fastest growing disciplines in the world of social science. Still, most people in the general population as well as many individuals within the study of psychology know very little about what forensic psychology actually is. This course is designed to cover the various roles and issues that constitute the science of forensic psychology and to help student deepen their understanding of the various roles forensic psychologists play in the real world. Needless to say, this course will not train you to be a forensic psychologist, but hopefully it will spark your interest about a very exciting topic and encourage you to study some of the issues we touch on, as you move on academically.
