

GREEK MINOR

<https://cola.unh.edu/classics-humanities-italian-studies/program/minor/greek>

Description

Explore the cultural foundations of Western civilization in the Greek minor, studying ancient and modern Greek and Greek history, literature, philosophy and religion. The minor compliments studies in areas such as business, classics, history, the humanities, philosophy or international affairs, and will help you prepare for a career at home or abroad, or for graduate studies.

The coordinator is Scott Smith, Murkland Hall 301; Department of Classics, Humanities and Italian Studies; e-mail scott.smith@unh.edu.

Requirements

A minor in Greek consists of five courses (20 credits).
