

THEATRE AND DANCE (THDA)

There is no area of human endeavor that theatre does not touch. To study theatre is to learn a great deal about yourself and about the world in which you will live. No course of study will prepare you better for life in a rapidly changing world.

The award-winning faculty at the University of New Hampshire provide theatre and dance majors with superlative training within a broad liberal arts context. Students may take courses in acting; voice and movement; dialects; directing; choreography; design and theatre technology; the history, theory and criticism of drama and theatre; youth drama; secondary theatre education; playwriting; storytelling; puppetry; ballet; theatre dance (jazz and tap); aerial dance; and musical theatre. Students interested in performance, technical and historical aspects are trained to step into professional careers while still broadening the scope of their preparation through a rich liberal arts education. The program encourages students to explore their interests through independent studies and internships, special projects and active personal involvement in lecture and laboratory classes, with the possibility for integration with other departments. To assist with financial needs, the department awards scholarships to selected majors each spring.

The Department of Theatre and Dance offers over 25 performance opportunities every year in either musicals, plays or dance concerts. In addition to performing, students are given the opportunity to direct, stage manage, design, choreograph or write scripts for the work done in our department. We offer jazz, tap and ballet studies. In addition, UNH was the first university to add Aerial Dance to course offerings. Students study with faculty who have worked locally, nationally and internationally.

In addition to comprehensive liberal arts preparation, six specific course sequences are available within the theatre major:

1. courses leading to a theatre major with an option in acting & directing;
2. courses leading to a theatre major with an option in dance: ballet, theatre dance (tap and jazz) and aerial dance. Students also have the option of pursuing dance education leading to K-12 dance teacher certification. You may achieve dance licensure in two different ways. You may pursue dance education/licensure through the undergraduate program. This leaves no room for double majors or minors. If you want to broaden your undergraduate education and need more space for classes outside of THDA, you may pursue the five-year program, beginning preparation for teaching at the undergraduate level and then pursuing a graduate degree to get dance certification. Students complete a baccalaureate degree in theatre with a dance option and move into a fifth year of study with a full-year internship, leading to either the Masters in Education (M.Ed.) or a Master of Arts in Teaching (M.A.T.) degree and licensure for teaching;
3. courses leading to a theatre major with an option in design & theatre technology;
4. courses leading to a theatre major with an option in musical theatre;
5. courses leading to a theatre major that, if desired, may be combined with requirements of the Department of Education to pursue a K-12 teacher's license. You may achieve theatre licensure in two different ways. You may pursue secondary theatre education/licensure through the undergraduate program. This leaves no room for double majors or minors. If you want to broaden your undergraduate education and need more space for classes outside of THDA, you may pursue the five-year program, beginning preparation for teaching at the undergraduate level and then pursuing a graduate degree to get theatre arts certification. Students complete a baccalaureate degree in theatre with a secondary theatre education option and move into a fifth year of study with a full-year internship, leading to either the Masters in Education (M.Ed.) or a Master of Arts in Teaching (M.A.T.) degree and licensure for teaching;

6. courses leading to a theatre major that, if desired, may be combined with requirements of the Department of Education, in conjunction with a fifth year master of education (M.Ed.) program, to prepare students for elementary school certification with an undergraduate option in youth drama.

Auditions are required for the acting, dance and musical theatre options. Interviews are strongly encouraged for all other areas. The audition session will last approximately three hours. In addition to the audition, students will take part in group acting exercises, do a dance call and have an opportunity to ask questions during a comprehensive department overview. Please note that entrance into Department of Theatre and Dance options is contingent upon acceptance into the University of New Hampshire. Prospective students who live more than 250 miles away may contact the department to discuss other audition options. Audition dates, as well as detailed entrance requirements, can be found at the Department of Theatre and Dance website.

Minoring in Theatre and Dance

A minor acknowledges a level of competence and academic focus without the depth a major requires. Students may pursue a minor while majoring in another subject when the demands of that major prevent the possibility of a double major.
