The University of New Hampshire College of Professional Studies expands access to students seeking a world-class UNH education, both online and on campus. Bringing together career-driven programs, outstanding faculty talent, and top-ranked online learning solutions, we prepare students for success in their chosen field — and connect them to the wealth of opportunities in the region.

The college features two divisions: Online (UNH-Granite State College) and Manchester.

The Online (UNH-Granite State College) division offers online undergraduate, post-baccalaureate, graduate, and certificate programs. The Manchester division offers in-person and hybrid undergraduate, post-baccalaureate, and both in-person and online graduate and certificate programs. Both divisions offer continuing and professional education in collaboration with UNH Extension.

Faculty

The College of Professional Studies faculty is its greatest asset. Faculty members—both online and in-person—have earned reputations for excellent teaching, scholarly achievement in their fields, and service to the community. They are recognized scholars and have acquired national and international reputations. Adjunct faculty members bring applied experience and a commitment to teaching to the classroom. Most importantly, the college's dedicated faculty members are outstanding teachers who care about each individual student.
